Volume XXVI, Number 43.

LOUISA, LAWRENCE COUNTY, KENTUCKY, JUNE 30, 1911.

M. F. CONLEY, JR.

GO TO PRIMARY

And Vote for James B. McCreary for Governor.

Saturday, July 1st, is the Date. An Appeal From a Local Democrat to Fellow Citizens.

To the Democrats of Lawrence County:

On next Saturday, July 1st, the polls will be opened in each voting precinct, beginning at six o'clock a. m., and closing at 4 p. m., for the purpose of nominating a democratic ticket for the various offices in the State, all of which are of great importance to the people; and as a democrat of Lawrence county I urge each and every democrat to go to the polls and vote for Hon. James B. McCreary for Governor, and not only vote but use every honorable means with your neighbor to see that he goes to the polls and votes for McCreary. It is of the greatest importance that he be nominated, as his nomination means his election. Your interests and mine will be looked after by him in such a way that all of the people will receive fair play, as he has never failed to stand for the farmer and the great masses when he was in office, and your trust will never be betrayed.

A Democrat of Lawrence County.

McLeod-Wright Nuptials.

One of the prettiest home weddings which has ever occurred in the vicinity of Catlettsburg, was that of Miss Anna Wright and Mr. Kenneth N. McLeod, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Sophia Wright, Wednesday morning. Only the immediate family and a few friends witnessed the union.

The bride is a granddaughter of the Rev. Joseph Wright, who was one of the best known residents of the Kavanaugh neighborhood, and her mother a daughter of Mr. Coon Wallis.

Mr. McLeod is a Canadian by birth, and a Government engineer by profession. He is one among the Government's most trusted employees, and is now stationed at Foster, Ky., for where he, with his fair bride, left on train No. 3 amid showers of rice and heartiest congratulations, to reside.

This wedding has local color from the fact that Mr. McLeod and his brother J. M. are well known in Louisa. When the Langhorns were spending their steam about in this vicinity some years ago the McLeods made this place their residence and were much liked by all who knew them.

JENKINS, KY.

Governor of this wonderful city of the mountains the United States Engineer of recent date has the following:

Jenkins, Ky., is now in the course of reorganization, and the location of the city is in the Elk Horn district. Contracts have been let for the building of a modern bank building, a hotel building, stores and shops, together with 1,000 model mining houses. Work on these will be begun within a month. The National Bank of Jenkins has been organized and will open for business on July 1. With the mining and railroad activities about it, it is claimed that the town will be among the most important in Kentucky.

The Elk Horn district comprises 100,000 acres, and is owned by the Consolidated Coal Company, composed largely of Baltimore capital.

IS ON HIS NATIVE HEATH.

Mr. John J. McCoy, formerly of Martin county, is here from Washington, his adopted State, for a brief visit. Mr. McCoy paid an early visit to this office and talked enthusiastically of his home beyond the Rockies. Mr. McCoy went to Washington in 1907, and, unlike others who have gone far from sandy water, has no desire to come back to stay. He is 73 years old, hearty and strong, and a man of much intelligence.

S. S. S. Celebration.

"Safe, sane and sensible" means "nothing doing." Louisa is to have this sort of a Fourth of July celebration this year. In past years the burden of the celebration has been borne by a few, who were generally too tired when the day came to enjoy it very much. This year the promoters have much else to do, and we will be content to mark out Old Glory and pass the day in peace, leaving others to pass it in pieces. However, come to town with the children and have a pleasant outing, free from care, the last holiday before school troubles begin for the young ones, and they will enjoy coming to town.

Her Ninth.

Miss Ellen Hughes summoned many of her young friends to her handsome home last Saturday, the occasion being the ninth anniversary of her birth, June 24, 1902. They all came, and the good looking lady and winsome lassies, in groups on the wide porches and spacious lawn made a pretty picture. Games and goodies of the very good kind entertained the budding young ladies and gentlemen, and all voted it the time of their lives. Each guest appropriately remembered the young hostess of this pleasant occasion.

Will Build Up Potter's Fork.

The Lexington and Eastern railroad will build a branch six miles long up Potter's fork up the main Boone's fork to part of the holdings of the Consolidated Coal Company where the company will at once start building a model mining town.

Potter's fork is the present terminal of the Lexington and Eastern now being rapidly rushed to completion. The contract for the new extension will be let at once and construction rushed to completion before the end of the year. —Lexington Leader.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS

As to a Strong Ticket to Vote for in the Primary.

The following suggestions as to the strongest ticket that can be nominated by the Democratic primary Saturday has come as the result of diligent inquiry from a few prominent Democrats who have no personal interest, but who want to pick men who can win in November. So many voters know nothing about the various candidates that they are asking on all sides for this very information. This is our only reason for publishing it. It is not a "hint," and nobody is urged to follow it if they have any objections or suspicions about it.

McCreary for Governor.
M. Dermott for Lieutenant-Gov.
Rosenbath for Auditor.
Hammill for Sup't. of Public Instruction.

Newman for Com. of Agriculture.
Fry for Com. of State of Agriculture.
Honors are about even.

Garnett will probably win for Attorney General, but the mountains are expected to vote heavily for Pollard.

The temperance forces have declared against some candidates in the primary, but none of these men appear in the above list. This fact has not unduly influenced the selection of these names, but is worth mentioning in this connection.

All Democrats should vote for every candidate who has no opposition, so as to boost them.

TOO LATE FOR OPERATION.

Demus Stridge, of near Paintsville, was brought to Louisa by Dr. Daniel, Paintsville, Monday last and taken to Riverview hospital. He was suffering with peritonitis, and was brought here in the hope that an operation might save his life, but an examination showed that it was too late and the young man was taken back on the evening train. He was 13 years old.

The Young People's Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, South, was entertained by Miss Jeanne McClure with a picnic in Pountain Park Thursday.

WITHDRAWS.

Paynter Quits the Race for U. S. Senator.

Leaves a Clear Field for Olie James in the Primary of Next Saturday.

The following is the card issued by Senator Paynter announcing his withdrawal:

"To the Democrats of Kentucky:

In December last, almost in the middle of my term as Senator, the Democratic Committee ordered a primary in which was included the question as to who should be the Democratic candidate before the next General Assembly to succeed me in the Senate. Congress was then in session. At the close of that session an extraordinary session was called, and now continues. If the weather had permitted my public duties would not have allowed me to make such a canvass as was necessary to bring to the attention of the Democratic voters my candidacy as should have been done.

Last summer, during the time I had intended to canvass the State, four members of my family were stricken with typhoid fever, which necessitated my remaining home for eight weeks, after which my public duties called me from the State for several weeks, hence during the past year I have had no opportunity to canvass the State.

"Doubtful Condition in Louisville.

"Notwithstanding this, I have no doubt I could have won the nomination in the primary, but a condition has arisen in Louisville which renders my success at least doubtful. In view of that condition, I am inclined not to incur the legitimate and necessary expense incident to perfecting such an organization as would be required to meet the present situation. I am unwilling that my friends should incur such an expense, or that they should attempt to overcome that condition by the extraordinary effort that might be required.

"I have ever been willing to meet difficulties, and in the past have overcome many in order to achieve success, but I do not think my friends should expect me to do so in the present condition of affairs.

"After the primary an effort will have to be made to insure a Democratic Legislature. As this observation may be misconstrued I will add that I believe the legislature will be Democratic. I merely desire to say that in view of the present condition to which I have alluded, I am unwilling to incur the legitimate expenses referred to, and to assume the burden of that which must follow in the event of my nomination.

But One Regret.

"I have but one regret in reaching this conclusion, and that is, the disappointment my action may bring to many of my friends, whose loyalty and confidence I deeply appreciate. My name will continue on the ballot. But I ask my friends to cease their efforts in my behalf, and to abstain from voting for me, for I now withdraw from the race.

"I desire to express the hope that the primary election for State offices may be conducted in such a way as not to result in dissension in our ranks. In view of the promising outlook for a national Democratic victory, I regard it of vast importance that the supremacy of the Democratic party be maintained in our State.

"In conclusion, I desire to thank my friends for their confidence in me and their efforts in my behalf. I shall ever appreciate what the Democrats of Kentucky have done by me, and especially am I grateful to the Democrats of Northwestern Kentucky, who, in the past, have given me their cordial and loyal support.

"T. H. PAYNTER."

Destroy the Weeds.

The News invites the attention of the municipal authorities and the Board of Health to the Weed nuisance. No warning should be needed, but we all grow indifferent and continue so until aroused by some disaster which could have been averted. From one end to another the gutters of most of the streets are choked with weeds and grass. These catch and retain all sorts of stuff, much of which decays and becomes a menace to health. These jungles on both sides of many of our streets are the birthplaces and hiding places of myriads of predatory mosquitoes, now known to be the active carriers of disease, as well as intolerable pests. There is not the slightest excuse for the existence of these evils, unsightly and dangerous. The work of cleaning up, thoroughly and at once, should be done by order of the city council. It not done by this body our people should have civic pride enough to do it themselves, each man on and near his own premises.

Stagnant water, foul gutters, acres of dog kennel and other weeds are preventable, and to permit their presence is only a little short of criminal.

Numerous Petitions.

Nearly four hundred individual petitions have been sent to the postmaster general asking that Sunday mail service at this place be discontinued. The postmaster and his assistant here are entitled to their one day of rest, and there is in fact very little use for a Sunday mail. A mail goes out as late as six o'clock p. m. Saturday and the discomfort of waiting in the mob which congregates in the office on Sunday night more than offsets any advantage gained by getting mail at that time. This paper is "sorry," but it is of the opinion that the days of happy meetings at the post-office on Sunday night are nearly over.

BUSSEYVILLE OIL WELL.

Work of Drilling Will Begin the First of Next Week.

The well to be drilled for oil on the farm of W. D. O'Neal, Sr., six miles southwest of Louisa, will be started next week, by the Busseyville Oil & Gas Company. A sufficient amount of stock has been sold to pay the entire cost of the well. It is almost entirely a local company and the promoters are proud of their success.

The contract for drilling the well was let to Tom Hayes, of this place. He has engaged as driller Chris Lawrence and A. F. Garver. The derrick is ready and the machinery on the ground. The owners will be here the last of this week, and the completion of a well will be drilling on Wolf Creek, in Martin county.

SPARK AND SPAN.

The R. T. Burns residence looks like a new building in its put-on dress of paint. It presents a most attractive appearance, and the whole interior has been made to accord with the outside. For weeks it has been in the hands of men who were artists in their hand. Hardwood floors have been laid in the rooms and halls and on the stairways and the workmen style and finish, can not be surpassed. The workmen, Elkins and Wenzel, of Cincinnati, are, to use a little slang, on to their job.

CALLED BY DEATH OF FATHER.

Dr. L. D. Jones, the Louisa dentist, has returned from Buckingham county, Va., where he had been called by the sudden death of his father, L. D. Jones, Sr. Mr. Jones died of heart failure at the age of 74, leaving a widow and twelve children, all of whom except one brother who was detained by illness, were present at the burial.

Mrs. Charles A. Kirk, formerly of this city, was operated upon in Ashland last week. The operation was a delicate one and Mrs. Kirk is said to be doing well.

JENKINS.

Interesting Facts About the Mountain City.

Will Break Many Records Within the Next Two Years. Plans Laid on Big Scale.

The within rings in Elk Horn. The spirit of progress is everywhere evident. There is an awakening in store for the once sleeping hills that overlook the beautiful valley; the stately oak, the mighty forest, all, is being transformed into a town of immense proportion—the city of Jenkins. The great coal fields hereabouts will soon be open to the world. Here the Consolidated Coal Co., a corporation of which this section should feel proud, came a few months ago and drove the first stakes looking to the establishment of the largest coal operations in the country with the expenditure of millions of dollars in the project.

A temporary light and power plant is being installed as rapidly as possible which will suffice for the present. Later a more up-to-date and modern plant will take its place. Work was started sometime ago on a concrete dam across Elk Horn which is to furnish the water supply for the different operations. Construction is well under way on a large hotel, a boarding house, some large barns and many residences. Hundreds of carpenters are already employed while hundreds of others are wanted. For other work, such as building roads, grading streets, cutting timber, teamsters, etc., hundreds of hands are wanted at good wages.

Three sawmills are running full time converting the forests into building material, while two other mills are to be installed at once. Steps have already been taken looking to the organization of a banking institution for the benefit of the company's employees. A school building adapted to the needs of the progressive town will be built at once and Jenkins will have a school this year. Though 20 miles from Heifer a special carrier is making daily trips to supply the town with mail, but later Uncle Sam will do that part of the business.

Modern ideas, brilliant in their conception, will thoroughly characterize the town of Jenkins—its building and make-up. Throughout in detail is everywhere apparent. They are not doing things by halves. Not one thing looking to the comfort and convenience of the company's employees will be lacking. In brief, everything will be modern and up-to-date a twentieth-century town—and Eastern Kentucky will look upon the town with pride.

Dr. Gambell, a leading young physician who comes from the Consolidated plant at Van Lear, Johnson county, arrived a few days ago and will have an office at the Walker House.

It will be almost a year before the railroad is completed to the site of operations at Jenkins, but rapid preparations are being made and everything will be in readiness for the shipping of coal at the "rock" of the first train into the "magic city."

The brick plant that will supply brick for the best buildings in Jenkins is now in active operation. When thoroughly started the plant will have a capacity of from 25,000 to 30,000 bricks per day.

To show the progressiveness of the Consolidation and to meet the demands of the public an ice plant is under construction and will be completed as rapidly as possible. —People's Advocate.

That Jenkins is bound to soon be quite a city is further evidenced by the following Pittsburgh special of local interest:

"One of the largest building contracts ever secured by a Pittsburgh company was awarded this week to Nicola Building Company to erect houses, churches, schools and a theatre in the new mining town of Jenkins, Leitcher county, Ky. The construction was authorized by the Consolidated Coal Company, which owns 100,000 acres of coal land in that region.

The buildings will number close to 1,000 and will be distributed along valleys fifteen miles in extent. Fourteen mines will be opened by the company, and shipments will be over the Chesapeake and Ohio and the Louisville and Nashville, which roads are extending their lines to Jenkins. The Nicola Building Company is putting up sawmills, planing mills, brick yards, lime kilns and blacksmith shops on the property, new virgin forestland will thus produce nearly all materials needed in building construction.

"The company is also to construct a macadamized boulevard several miles long and a lake a mile wide, on the shores of which the mining company officials will locate. Waterworks and an electric light plant are planned. Oliver P. Nicola, president of the Nicola Building Company, is on the ground supervising the preliminary operations."

In none of the many accounts published concerning this almost magic city of Jenkins have we seen any mention of the Cold Water Park, the stream on which the city will be built. The stream has its genesis in a spring of great size which bursts from the side of a mountain not far from the site of the future city. The water is pure and icy cold and is of great volume. A dam will be built across the Clear Fork at a proper distance below this spring, by which and from the reservoir so formed the town will be supplied with an abundance of water. Near this point there are several acres of level land. When the dam is full the water will spread to this level tract, forming a lake of considerable extent, and on its shores the resident officials of the Consolidation Company will build handsome homes.

To those who are not familiar with the actual conditions much which is being said of Jenkins has the smack of the "Gilded Age." Those who are cognizant of the facts know that what is here related is sober truth.

ALLEGED HORSE THIEF.

Silas Conn Brought From Pike to Lawrence County by Officers.

Silas Conn, alias Henry Jarrell, hailing from Lawrence, Morgan, Elbert and Pike counties, with several precincts to be heard from.

Now in the Lawrence jail charged with having an undue liking for a horse. Those who read the county correspondence in this paper—and you may miss it if you don't—may recall an item published not long ago to the effect that a horse had been stolen in the upper Blaine country and was not long afterwards hidden in a big cave. The trail was taken up and followed until, after many days of strenuous travel, Conn was caught. The chase ended in Pike county, not far from the Virginia line. The horse had been abandoned there and had been stolen and was recovered by its owner. Conn was brought to Louisa and lodged in jail. He will have an upcoming trial on Thursday, June 29. It is said that since his apprehension Conn has admitted his guilt, confessing to having stolen the horse. This is doubted by those who know the man and his methods.

THE FIRST "TUX."

On Thursday evening, last, several of the young friends of Miss Jane Gayler helped her celebrate the thirtieth anniversary of her birth. Everything possible was done by the charming young lady to make the occasion a festive one, and success crowned the endeavor. Music and delicious refreshments were very much in evidence and greatly enjoyed by the happy crowd. As memento of her party Miss Jane has many tangible evidences of the esteem in which she is so universally held by her many young friends.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTION.

The News again announces that the qualified voters of Louisa will hold an election for a School Board Saturday, July 1. The election will be held at the court house and will be very new.

LOGAN, W. VA.

Dear Editor:—

I would like for my neighbors to know what kind of a country this is. The country is all O. K. but there are 25 Hungarians here to one American. The third day of last month I saw 20 gallons of whiskey come here and there were about 200 Hungarians all in one fight. One policeman and four other Americans there was a scratching old time. One driver was hurt slightly. There was a man killed in the mines by a motor.

We have had no rain for some time. Whiskey is starving people out in this country. About 75 gallons of whiskey come to this place every week. They call this a dry county, but I can't see it that way. Well this is all. People, do all you can against liquor.

KENTUCKY NEIGHBORS.

Official census reports received at the office of the State Superintendent of public instruction show there are 225,357 children in Kentucky of school age. Of this number only thirty-five percent actually attend school, while the statistics show negroes attend school better than the whites.

Kentucky, to her shame, must admit she is a leader in illiteracy and her most urgent need is more drastic laws along the line of compulsory education.

Much significance is attached to movements now on foot in various sections of Breathitt county, aimed at law breaking and disorderly conduct. The order loving people at Lost Creek have organized a league which promises to come out in the open and put up fight against disorder.

At Calla, Mr. James Muir recently built and donated a church which was dedicated Sunday. Formerly this section was one of the worst in the county, but the influence of the good people of the neighborhood, who will use this as a center of moral influence, is expected to transform conditions.

It has been suggested that law and order leagues be organized throughout the county, with a head or central organization in Jackson. Just as soon as effective working organizations are found in all sections, the tide of wrong doing will begin to turn, and Breathitt be relieved from the odium which has so long clung to her.

Henderson has discharged the Board of Health which closed a public well in Barret Park and has gone to court over the question of reopening the well. Remember the strong temperance talk the Town Pump once gave us in its initiation. "Walk up, walk up, gentlemen, and have a drink of Adams' Ale!" And how mother would point to the little fly crawling up the window pane and admonish baby to tender consideration for all helpless creatures. Now, we close the wells as cess pools of infection, and "swat" the fly as man's chief enemy. Once we heard an old-time preacher refer to the fly as a scavenger, which the Almighty had sent as a blessing to man. Well, he may be right at that. A providentially sent fly, that won't wipe its feet, isn't much worse than a man. "made in the image of God," who spits on the sidewalk.—Paducah Sun.

The business man who saves a dollar or two a year by using "sloppy" and martastic printed stationery, such as letter heads, bill heads, statements, tags, etc., stands a chance of losing hundreds by the impression of cheapness and stinginess that he conveys to every man who sees any of it. Nothing pays so well as neat business stationery and the difference in cost over the other kind is too small to consider.

The burglars escaped. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

Woman's Power

Over

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves, she is one in the wide world who knows the heart agony of the endowment. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her sympathy and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. Pierce's Pink Pills, of Buffalo, N. Y., the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured thousands of women. It has devised a successful remedy for women's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Female Prescriptions. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and builds. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and strengthen Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

IN MEMORY.

On Saturday morning, June 10, 1911, our Heavenly Father called to himself our dear beloved companion and mother and friend, Laur B. Cochran, wife of Martin Cochran, of Torchlight. She was about 18 years old, and was the daughter of Leander and Nannie Hickman, both who have preceded her to the Promised Land. Laura was a good woman and a noble wife. She suffered with that dread disease consumption. Everything was done for her that human skill could do. Nothing could save her.

She suffered much, but thanks be to God she is free from all pain and suffering now. Why she was taken from her husband and little babe we cannot tell, but she has gone home, where parting will be no more. She is another tie to bind husband and brothers and sisters to God. She leaves behind her two brothers and two sisters. While they mourn the loss of a sister here let them look at God and trust him. Laura was a true Christian and died in full faith of a living God. It is a grand consolation for the husband, brothers and sisters to know where she is. Service held by Rev. J. T. Friley. Her body was laid to rest in the Joe McClure graveyard at the side of her father and mother at Chapman. A large crowd of relatives and friends gathered to witness the last sad rites of one they loved so dear.

PRESS COMMENT.

On the Candidacy of R. L. "Bob" Greene for the Democratic Nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals—State Primary July 1.

"Bob" Greene in the Race.

Robert L. Greene, one of the best known lawyers of this section of the State, last night announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. Mr. Greene was deputy clerk of the highest court for twenty years and is thoroughly familiar with the duties of the office. During the time he was engaged in the clerk's office he knew every lawyer in Kentucky, and was relied upon by those who had practice before the Court of Appeals. Mr. Greene twice made the race for the nomination for clerk, but was defeated each time. He served last under Sam J. Shackelford as the deputy clerk. He has always been a Democrat and has a large number of friends in the State who will rally to his support.—Kentucky State Journal.

The Man for the Place.

The News has nothing to say against any Democrat who is an aspirant for a nomination on the State ticket. When it comes to special fitness, popularity, ardentness and location we have in mind a few aspirants which appear particularly desirable. There is Bob Greene of Frankfort. He is a splendid man, known to be the finest clerk in the State and has been treated rather badly by the party. He is a candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. We do not think he could be improved upon.—Elizabeth-town News.

Nearly Qualified for Post.

Lawyers all over the State, especially the older ones, who have practiced before the Court of Appeals, know the work that was done by Robert L. Greene, who he was deputy clerk of the Court of Appeals. The announcement of Mr. Greene for the nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals is of interest not only in Frankfort, but all over Kentucky, for Mr. Greene is known all over the State. He would make an ideal clerk, as he is finely qualified to hold the position. Frankfort News.

A Democrat Without Guile.

Robert L. Greene, of Frankfort, has announced himself a candidate for Clerk of Court of Appeals. For many years he was chief assistant in the office of the Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and judges and lawyers throughout the Commonwealth are agreed that never was the office so well conducted as when Bob Greene was practically in charge. He is, besides being a very fine clerk, a gentleman of the highest character and a Democrat without guile. He ought to be nominated and elected.—Owensboro Messenger.

Old Home Endorses Him.

R. L. Greene, of Frankfort, a native of Bracken, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. "Bob" Greene served as deputy in this office for years, and his record is a good one. Bracken county should, and undoubtedly will be for him almost to a man.—Bracken Chronicle.

Endorsed by Bench and Bar.

Endeavoring to satisfy the only ambition he has ever had in a political way, Robert L. Greene, of Frankfort, has announced his candidacy for Clerk of the Court of Appeals, subject to the action of the Democratic State primary. He is endorsed by practically all the judges of the Court of Appeals and all concede his qualifications such as will make him an admirable clerk if elected. He has had the endorsement of the bar of the State in all of his races and his friends declare that in his qualifications he cannot be excelled by any candidate. He was born in Gallatin county and reared in Bracken. He has no opposition for the nomination and is not likely to have any.—Lexington Herald.

Made a Good Official.

Hon. Robert L. Greene, of Frankfort, has announced himself a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. He formerly held the position of deputy clerk of that court and made one of the best officials the State has ever had.—Danville Advocate.

His Reputation for Efficiency.

Mr. Robert L. Greene, now residing at Frankfort, has announced for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. Mr. Greene had an experience of many years as Deputy Clerk in that office and made a reputation throughout the State for efficiency and faithfulness. The lawyers of Kentucky would be glad to see him elected to an office which he so much deserves.—The Kentuckian.

Citizen.

Bob Greene is a candidate for Clerk of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, and is one man who, in our opinion, deserves "the job." Greene has long aspired to be Clerk of Kentucky's Big Court. We know him to be qualified and worthy of the honor, more, he's as big a hearted Democrat as ever lived.—Jackson Times.

Will be Hard to Beat.

It should be a source of great gratification to the legal profession and to the public generally to know that Bob Greene, as he is familiarly known, of Frankfort will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. The writer announces without a fear of successful contradiction that there is no man in the State of Kentucky better qualified to fill that position. During the days of old time Democracy he performed those duties with signal ability. No man was ever more courteous and accommodating to those having business before the Court of Appeals and in the office of that court. The intricacies of the office are familiar to him. He is a lawyer of ability, and honest to the core. His nomination will add strength to the ticket, and his election by the people will be an honor to the State.—The Falcon.—Lebanon.

R. L. Greene.

Attorney R. L. Greene, of Frankfort, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. For many years he held the Deputyship and was recommended by the Judges of that Court who said he was the best official the State ever had. Bob Greene, as he is so familiarly known here, where he formerly lived, will, we believe, receive every Democratic vote in Pendleton county; and many Republicans will come over to support him. Pendletonian.

Robert L. Greene, of Frankfort, has announced that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. Mr. Greene's cards announcing his candidacy are now in circulation and have appeared in nearly every county in the State. Mr. Greene is now a practicing attorney before the Court of Appeals, but for a number of years he was a deputy in the office of Clerk of the Court of Appeals. There is perhaps no man in the State who knows as many members of the bar as he. There is perhaps no man other than those who have filled the office of Clerk themselves who are as familiar with the duties of the office as Mr. Greene. All the lawyers are acquainted with his alertness. Therefore he has started into the race with a big following, who are certain to be on hand to work in his interest at the polls when primary day rolls around.—J. D. W. in Cincinnati Enquirer.

We notice with pleasure the favorable comments of the press regarding "Bob" Greene's candidacy for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. Here's hoping that he will be given the nomination without opposition.—Georgetown News.

RAISING THE MONEY

GOOD ISSUE IS BEST WAY TO PAY FOR GOOD ROADS.

EFFORTS OFTEN MISDIRECTED

Good Roads Fever Carries Community Off Its Feet Frequently and Work Is Started Along Impractical Lines — Tax Levy Plan Wrong.

By HOWARD H. GROSS.

In forwarding any great movement, as the building of good roads, enthusiasm is essential, but unless this is coupled with a knowledge of the subject, it is a question whether it sometimes does not do more harm than good. The writer believes that a movement for better highways is often retarded by over-enthusiasm friends who are attempting to do something they do not understand. The proposition to build good roads throughout the land is a very big one, and exceedingly important. It is a question that must be handled in a big way. If anyone had suggested fifty years ago the building of a railway to the Pacific slope, he would have been declared at least visionary. This has been accomplished and today there are a half dozen such railways, and the four months' journey across the desert is now compassed in less than three days. While the building of good wagon roads throughout the country is an immeasurably big job, yet there are lack of it boundaries: there is far more to encourage us than the builders of these first great continental roads had to encourage them. Let us go forward tax for hard roads that will produce perhaps $1,000 or $2,000 and expend it upon a gravel or macadam stretch of road, which is to be extended from year to year at a rate that will give the township a fair amount of hard roads, say, in twenty or thirty years. By the time the last mile is built under this plan, the first one is worn out, the rule being that the road once built receives no attention, and that the money raised is spent upon building more roads. The roads are usually built without work. If any, attention being paid to drainage, and the results are not always satisfactory. In fact, they are seldom what they should be. Those charged with the duty of spending the money nineteen times in twenty know little, if anything, of how the road should be built, and when it is finished it is usually about half as good as it ought to be and has cost nearly twice as much as it should, for let it be said again and again that the greater part of the taxes raised for highways is frittered away by misdirected effort. An eminent engineer, who has had extensive experience, says at least sixty per cent of the funds raised for highways is wasted. Certainly the waste is at least one-half. This being the case, it follows that one of the first things to do is to stop this awful waste and see that a dollar's worth of road results from every dollar expended, instead of forty to fifty cents worth. It ought to be clear that it is very important that roads should be constructed under expert supervision, and that a capable road engineer is needed. Of course it is not practical to have this and build the roads piece meal, a short stretch at a time, hence the township will find it wise, instead of an annual tax levy, to issue bonds to the full constitutional limit and build, say, fifteen to twenty miles of road at once and pay for them by the give exact figures and have a concrete example. It will be necessary to take a typical farm in some portion of the central west, and apply the two plans to that farm. As the figures are at hand, the writer, selects an average farm in the corn belt of Illinois. There is no reason why this farm should be taken in preference to a farm in any other state, except that more complete data is at hand, hence it will be used. The same plan will apply with slight variations to other farms in other states, the owners of which, by getting the a-vised valuation of their township and state, can figure out and ascertain each for himself just what the effect will be upon his farm.

The assessed valuation of an average 160 acre farm in the corn belt of Illinois is about $2,000. Suppose the township, of which this is a part, has an assessed valuation of, say, $200,000 and is out of debt. By the old plan, suppose there is an annual tax levy for ten years of 50 cents on one hundred dollars. This will produce $2,000 per year, and in ten years will total $20,000. This money spent under average local conditions means that about half of it will be wasted, and the farm in question will have to pay each year sixty cents on thirty hundred dollars or $18.00 per year. The net result of this expenditure will be the paying out of $20,000 during ten years, and probably will produce not much over $10,000 worth of roads at what they ought to cost.

Suppose the new plan is adopted, by issuing bonds to the full constitutional limit of 5 per cent, paying the same off in installments spread over twenty years, and letting the next generation, who will use the roads, help to pay for them. The bond limit on the township in question is $20,000, of which exactly $10,000 rests upon the farm in question, to be paid off one-twentieth each year, or $7.50 on account of principal each year for twenty years. Interest of course will be paid annually, but will decrease as the bonds are paid off. The first year's interest will be 5 per cent on $10,000, or $7.50. Add $7.50 on account of principal, and the first year's payment on this farm for good roads is $15.00.

The tenth year one-half of the bonds will be paid off, and the interest will drop to $7.50, so that that year the tax will be $12.50. The last year's payment will be $7.50 on account of principal and 35 cents on account of interest, making a total of $7.85.

Thirty thousand dollars of bond issues will build far more and far better roads on a general contract, than $20,000 spent in ten years on a patch work plan, and the cost to the taxpayer will be considerably less as well.

Now, let us suppose that Illinois had, as it surely needs, an up-to-date state aid law, whereby one-half the amount required for building permanent roads should be paid from a state tax levy. If this criterion obtained, then the township in question could after raising $20,000, draw $20,000 more from the state, and expend $40,000 upon highways to their township. In Illinois less than one-third the property of the state is represented by farms, so the state tax will be spread over an immeasurably greater amount of property. A tax of ten cents on one hundred dollars for the state, will produce nearly $2,500,000 a year, and the state aid tax upon the farm in question will be $10.00 per year in order to raise the second $20,000. This state tax would add $10.00 to the tax bill of the farm in question, so the maximum amount per year, if $40,000 were expended upon the roads of the township would be $25.00 per year—less than 12 cents per acre per year, and take it for a series of years, anyone who can figure at all, will see that the cost to that community, spread over a series of years will be even less under the bond contract plan, and that they can get, by the new plan, about three times as much road as they would upon the old. In handling road building to this big way, it will give an early and practical solution of the good roads problem, vastly better and more effective than to pass the law, get up an extermination and year conceit out to raise the money to build a little bit of road.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

COLUMN DEDICATED TO TIRED MOTHERS AS THEY JOIN THE HOME CIRCLE.

Home should be made the most interesting and best loved spot on earth, not merely four square walls of wood and brick; it should be the fountain of civilization the very word should touch every fiber of the soul and strike every cord of the human heart with its angelic fingers a place where that is consoled on higher and better things of life, bringing forth in the highways and byways and influence that will be felt by all with whom it comes in contact. It should be a place where the heart is, a place where our feet may leave but not our hearts, a place where angels anoint their wings, the place to love best, because it is the place where mother is.

The best brought up family of children we knew were educated on the principle of always commending when it was possible to do so and letting silence be the reproof of any wrong doing which was not really serious. We have heard the children of this household, when their mother had failed to say any word of commendation after some social occasion, ask as anxiously as possible, "what was it, mamma?" I know something was wrong. Didn't we treat the other children well, or were we too noisy?" In that home reproof was never bestowed amongst — only commendation of whatever it was possible to commend, was gratification. We think this system would be as good for those grown up children, the husband and wife, as for those still in the nursery.

The days come to us like friends in disguise, bringing precious gifts from an unseen hand; but if we do not use them, they are borne silently away, never to return. Each successive morning new gifts are brought but if we fail to accept those that were brought yesterday and the day before, we become less and less able to turn them to account, until the ability to appreciate and utilize them is exhausted. Wisely was it said that lost wealth may be regained by industry, economy; lost knowledge by study, lost health by temperance and medicine but lost time is gone forever.

Some of us on both sides of the Atlantic have begun to realize that that serious study is less likely to injure women than pinched waists, late hours, hot rooms and an unwholesome food, and we think it is better for our girls to be graduated at schools for science rather than at schools for scandal. We think it will better prepare them for the grave responsibilities of matrimony and motherhood than rapid life in which personal adornment is their chief aim and how to kill time and secure a rich husband, their principal anxiety.

The Fourth of July is rapidly becoming a day to be dreaded rather than enjoyed. The Fourth of July means the death of hundreds of children by explosives of different kinds. The daily papers on the fifth of July never fail to contain columns after columns of death notices from bayonets, fire crackers and various kinds of explosives in New England the growing disgust that a day which should be hallowed by patriotic memories should be degraded into a day marked by the killing and maiming of hundreds if not thousands of children and into a day of torture for the sick and nervous and of dread and anxiety for the strong and well. The hospitals of the large cities on the Fourth of July are filled with youngsters of all ages, cut and burned, with their hands torn to shreds and their sight outraged or injured, and the death due to lock-jaw alone would, if we were not calmed by custom, cause such an outcry that those who sell or parents who put into the hands of their children the deadly toys would be held up to general execration. That there is no exaggeration in this statement of the case is borne out by the newspapers of the morning following the Fourth in every city in the country. Among the sick and unwell or those who are in the least nervous the constant din and the sudden earth splitting explosions cause a degree of misery that in itself would justify the suggestions of all explosives even if they were entirely innocuous to those that handle them and to surrounding property. No one has the right to subject others to torture merely to amuse himself. To bring children up deliberately to disregard the comforts and well being of others is to teach them, not liberty, on the day that should be consecrated to liberty.

In the home all that is characteristically feminine in woman unfolds and flourishes. Homer with out woman is a misnomer, for woman makes home, and home is what she makes it. If she is illiterate, her home partakes her of this quality; if she is immoral, her home cannot be the abode of virtue; if she is coarse refinement does not dwell where she resides. If she is cultivated, pure, refined, these qualities will characterize the home which she creates. Macadam Road Near Charlotte, N. C.

Here is a view of a North Carolina road built by convict labor. Note provision has been made for an earth road along side of the macadam roadway. Thus the convict has the choice. When the earth road is in good condition it will be used, at other times travel will be upon the hard road. This is an excellent plan in every way.

with a stout heart and high purpose and with a clear head, and all will come out right.

In a good roads campaign one of the most important things is to understand some things that are not so, to get a view of the proposition from the right angle, and not to work along impractical lines. The good roads fever usually breaks out to some community with a burst, to build a mile or two of hard roads, and there is a struggle to determine which particular road shall have the improvement. Bellhowsers crop out and must be removed with. When the particular road has been determined upon, then comes the question of raising funds. Those who are disappointed will give nothing; others will contribute various amounts; the banker, merchant and grain dealer are called upon and contribute different sums; others will contribute labor; an entertainment will be held to the town hall, the proceeds to be devoted to the building of the road. The local paper will be filled with letters, interviews and editorials; everybody is putting himself bond issue, paying off the bonds to installments. This is vastly better and cheaper than to build short stretches by an annual tax levy. Of course interest will have to be paid upon the bonds, but on the other hand the people will have good roads to use, and if the use of the roads is not worth more than the interest on the bonds required to build them, then road building is not worth while. The world's experience is that good roads are always worth several times what they cost to any community.

There are many advantages to this plan. By building many miles at once it is practical to have good engineering supervision and proper specifications, and the result will be a well drained, a better and a more durable road and one that will not cost nearly so much to maintain as one poorly constructed. Again, on so large a job contractors will figure lower than upon a small job and the best machinery and methods can be employed to advantage, so it is fair to say that twenty miles of road built under a single contract will cost from 15 to 20 per Road Before Dragging at Maryland, Md.

This road presents the worst possible condition. It is impossible to attempt travel under such conditions.

on the back and talking of the wonderful program that is being made. This in all very well so far as it goes, and perhaps the usual effect is good—it stirs up the community, but it does not do very much in the way of road building. Usually a half mile or so in the limit and may reach from the town to the country. Well, that does some good, and will give a departing citizen a smoother road in South than he had in life.

The money employed in such a campaign are wholly inadequate to the end sought. It reminds one of the old woman who proposed to keep the back with her broom.

There are also other unsatisfactory, expensive and wrong ways to take up the question. The most common one cost less than if built a mile or so at a time. Again, the roads are all new at the same time and will be far more satisfactory to the people, and the benefits will be simultaneous to the whole community.

Suppose the state in which a given township is situated aids in building permanent roads, under the plan that is followed in more than one-half the states. This will make the roads built a much lighter burden.

Let us see how the matter of taxation will affect the owner of a typical farm by the two plans of road building. Let it be a little each year by an annual tax levy and the other by a bond issue amortized by state aid or in other words, by comparing the old way with the new. In order to

SENNACHERIB TURNED BACK

Isaiah 37:34-38—July 2

"God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble."—Ps. 46:1

In a previous study our attention was drawn to the good King Hezekiah of Judah, his zeal for the Lord and the notable peace-keeping celebration which he brought about and the overthrow of idolatry following. Our present study relates to him at a later period in his reign. The Assyrian empire to the north and east, with its capital at Nineveh, had become great and powerful and threatened to become the first Universal Empire.

Before Hezekiah came to the throne of Judah his father entered into a treaty whereby peace was secured by the payment of an annual tribute. Egyptians, Philistines and Sidonians urged Judah to join them in the confederacy by which they hoped all might regain their liberty from the Assyrian yoke. Urged by his people, Hezekiah joined this confederacy and stopped the tribute money—contrary to the Lord's admonition through the Prophet Isaiah. The measure was popular, and the king did not seem to realize how fully the Prophet represented the Lord in the matter. He should have remembered that Israel was under a special Covenant with the Almighty by which he was their Sovereign, their King, and the Arbitrator of their destiny. The error was allowed to work out a serious penalty for the disobedience, but when the king and the people repented and gave evidence that the lesson had been learned Divine mercy came miraculously to their assistance, as we shall see.

Hezekiah's Prayer.

Sennacherib the Conqueror

The King of Assyria, with a large army, took the Besed. Knowing the difficulties of a siege of Jerusalem, he did not begin with it, but passed down the Mediterranean coast, overthrowing the Sidonians and Philistines, to Joppa and farther south; and then eastward to Lachish, a fortified city of Judah. The whole country was filled with fear, as nearly every city of Judah, one after the other, fell. King Hezekiah and his counselors resolved to avoid, if possible, a siege of war, and sent ambassadors to King Sennacherib apologizing for their temerity in refusing the tribute money and asking what compensation would satisfy him.

The penalty was a heavy one, amounting to nearly one million dollars, which at that time was a much larger sum than it would be today. The payment of it required the removal of much ornamental gold from the temple, but it was paid over and the release granted.

The Lord was waiting to be gracious, as He always is to those who are His.

The Delivering Angel.

Two people. He prayed, however, to give the word of comfort, with the necessities of the case had humbled the people and taught them a lesson of faith and dependence upon the God. Then came the answer: the Lord, the prophecy that the King of Assyria would not come into the city nor shoot an arrow there, nor even come before it with siegeworks nor cast up embankments of siege, but that the Lord would defend the city as His own. Doubtless the prophecy seemed strange to the people. By what miracle this could be accomplished they could not think. The lesson to us is that:

"God moves in a mysterious way
His wonders to perform;
He plants His footsteps in the sea,
And rides upon the storm."

A Hundred and Eighty-five Thousand Slain in a Night

Isaiah briefly and poetically declares that the angel of the Lord smote the camp of the Assyrians, without explaining in what manner. We remember the statement of the Scriptures that wind and fire and lightning may be the Lord's messengers or "angels." Quite probably, in this instance, the messenger of death may have been a malignant form of fever said to prevail at times to the northeast of Egypt; but it matters not to us what messenger the Lord used to turn back the Assyrian hosts.

The lesson for us is to note the Divine power which overrules, orders and directs, so that all things shall work together in harmony with His will. It was not His will that Assyria should become the first Universal Empire. That honor was reserved for the kingdom of Babylon, a century later—at exactly the proper time when God was prepared to withdraw His own typical kingdom, of the line of David, from the earth—to be "overturned, overturned, overturned" until the Messiah should come.

The lesson to the Christian is that we should keep right with God, abiding under the shadow of the Almighty; and that so doing, all things shall work together for our good.

IN MEMORY.

Carrie Hayes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hayes, died June 23rd, at the age of 19 years. She was laid to rest in the grave yard overlooking the home. We all miss Carrie. There is a vacant place in the home which never can be filled. All too soon she fell a victim to disease and pain. We miss her sadly, but our loss is her eternal gain. God in love and mercy called her and set her spirit free. This mortal life is but a span compared with immortality. When through the dark valley we all are called to pass God has promised to be with us if we are faithful to the last. Her soul took its flight to that beautiful shore where her dear brother had gone to greet her. There around God's throne where sickness and death never come, they are beckoning father and mother-sisters and brothers to that beautiful city above where all is peace, joy, happiness and love.

We know our dear children can not come to us, but so can go to them if by faith in God we trust.

As At—Mrs. J. H. P.

FIRE AT THACKER.

There was quite a fire at Thacker Mines No. 2, Wednesday evening when nineteen houses belonging to the Thacker Coal and Coke Co. were burned. They were occupied by employees of the Thacker company and the loss is estimated at $19,000 partly covered by insurance.

In Bad Fix

"I had a mishap at the age of 41, which left me in bad fix," writes Mrs. Georgia Usber, of Conyers, Ga. "I was unconscious for three days, and after that I would have fainting spells, dizziness, nervousness, sick headache, heart palpitation and many strange feelings. I suffered greatly with ailments due to the change of life and had 3 doctors, but they did no good, so I concluded to try Cardui."

"Since taking Cardui, I am so much better and can do all my housework."

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

Do not allow yourself to get into a bad fix. You might get in so bad you would find it hard to get out. Better take Cardui while there is time, while you are still in moderately good health, just to conserve your strength and keep you in tip top condition. In this way your troubles, whatever they are, will gradually grow smaller instead of larger—you will be on the up-grade instead of the down—and by and bye you will arrive at the north pole of perfect health.
